

The Single Most Important Ingredient in Becoming Influential

After 12 years of teaching communication skills, I am pretty sure this is the single most important ingredient that you must learn in order to be influential.

So the question is: are you working on this quality?